

THE POULTON PROJECT ARCHAEOLOGY COURSES

TRAINING COURSES AT POULTON, CHESHIRE, 2010

Poulton is a multi-period rural site 3 miles south of Chester, that has been yielding evidence of 9500 years of human activity. Mesolithic flints from 7500 BC, Late Bronze Age/Early Iron Age pottery and human cremations; Roman Pottery, brooches, coins, building material, window and goblet glass; Saxon Pottery; Medieval Graves, (13th/14thC) decorated floor tiles, buckles and coins; Civil War artifacts from the 1640's.

Excavation of a Medieval Chapel and its graveyard has uncovered 465 inhumations; it is estimated that up to 1,800 may be present.

To the north of the graveyard lies a Wood Henge and a series of Bronze Age Burials (c.1500-900BC), or Ring-Ditches containing cremations. We now have a reconstruction of a Timber Circle on the exact site where one once would have stood.

A mass of Roman building material (roof-tiles, window-glass), large quantities of artifacts, and several Roman ditches strongly hints at a substantial structure and associated field-systems.

TIMETEAM FEATURED POULTON ON APRIL 1st 2007

The dates for the proposed 2010 season are March 29th.- April 23rd. And June 21st.-Aug.27th.
Student fees are as follows...

£100 per week if booking one week only.
£90 per week if booking for two weeks.
£80 per week if booking for three weeks.
£70 per week if booking for four weeks.

Please note that no accommodation is offered, but there is a campsite and "Chester Backpackers" available nearby. Details can be found on our website.

The courses are designed as an introduction to Excavation Techniques, Drawing plans and sections, Context Recording, Photography, Finds Processing, Surveying Techniques and Geophysical Prospecting.

Website: www.poultonproject.org

Contact Alan Wilmshurst email: morebigal@aol.com

The Project will supply all tools and equipment, mess tents, toilets and basic facilities for cooking, and making tea and coffee etc whilst on site.

Students will be required to bring their own waterproofs; digging clothes, work boots and packed lunch.

The Poulton Project is a Registered Charity Number 1094552.
We will require a deposit of £25 for each week you wish to attend.

